Apply for DOJ Funding—Step 2: JustGrants

JustGrants is where you'll complete the second (and final) step to apply for Department of Justice (DOJ) funding.

JustGrants User Roles and Assignments

Start the JustGrants application by assigning or confirming three critical user roles:

1. Entity Administrator
2. Application Submitter
3. Authorized Representative(s)

These roles are required for the JustGrants application. Visit the Entity Management Training page for details on how to assign and manage JustGrants users.

Completing Your Application

JustGrants guides the Application Submitter through each step in the grant application process. The JustGrants application will reflect the requirements outlined in the notice of funding opportunity (NOFO). Please note that:

- Only designated Application Submitters can work on an application in JustGrants.
- If more than one user is designated as an Application Submitter, only one can work on the application at a given time.
- Required fields are marked in JustGrants with a red asterisk.

Visit the Application Submission Training page for more details and additional resources.

Did you complete the first part of the application in Grants.gov? You must finish that step before you can work on the application in JustGrants.
